

Meeting #2: University of Toronto St. George Campus Heritage, Public Realm and Movement

Date: May 8, 2017

Time: 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Place: Sandford Fleming Building, Room 3201, 10 King's College Road

This second meeting in a series on a new plan for the University of Toronto St George Campus and surrounding area, including Queen's Park and other Provincial government lands, will focus on heritage, the network of open spaces and how people move around (especially pedestrians and cyclists). The University will provide an overview of the proposal and City Planning staff will provide some preliminary comments. There will then be a chance for you to break into small roundtable groups to provide comments and present your ideas. City and University staff will be available to answer questions and hear your input.

Please join us at this important event and let us know your ideas for the future of this iconic place in our city.

Proposal

The University of Toronto has submitted an Official Plan Amendment application to establish a new University of Toronto St. George Campus Secondary Plan that would replace the existing Secondary Plan for the area. The purpose of the Secondary Plan is to provide a policy framework to manage change and guide new development in the area.
