

TORONTO Court Services

Court Services manages trials, payments and records relating to the Provincial Offences Act. The division operates four Provincial Offences courts that manage the payment of provincial offence fines (except parking fines), provincial offence trials, filing of Provincial Offences Act charges and documents, including appeals, re-openings and requests for extension of time to pay fines and general inquiries about provincial offences. The Division also provides administrative support services to the Toronto Licensing Tribunal. The Toronto Licensing Tribunal is an independent quasi-judicial body with seven civilian members, appointed by City Council, to adjudicate on matters that relate to the City's Licensing By-law (Chapter 545 of the Municipal Code). City Council has delegated its decision making powers to the Tribunal as a quasi-judicial adjudicative body to hear evidence and submissions and make independent decisions with respect to licensing matters.
